DEDICATION

Patient with the tedious, challenging with the brilliant, and devastating with the pompous, Dr. Katherine Van Eerde has earned the love of most who know her. She is at once the terror of the library and the blessing of the collegium. She teaches with clarity and thinks with a relentless passion for the rational. In the classroom, she follows the statement of each mind as it is expressed and is guided in her discussion by what each person says. Because she credits her students with the ability to understand what they read, her lectures reveal new people and new perspectives as she fills the gaps left by historical generalization.

We write to remember Dr. Van Eerde for her bicycle, for long talks with the lovers of Bach, for a crisp smile, a searching look, a word as accurate as arrows. She has mastered the idea of what one might call taste: not just a habit of pleasant clothing and fine music, but a quality more elusive to define, more ephemeral and rare. At once an elegance, a joy, a pride, a courage—it is a splendid force in living. It is there in the bright, swift words of her speech and in her light, determined step into the classroom. It is there in her catholic interests and cosmopolitan sentiments. She leaps with eloquence from author to statesman, from politician to composer. She is an Anglophile, an aristocrat, a democrat, and a friend.

The college years are only one measure of our active years in life. The temptation is to make a real distinction between college life and life “on the outside.”

We come to this new place.

Quickly we gain new perspectives.

The people we come to know differ.

Each person has his own methods and reasons.

But occasionally we must be alone.

Gradually we distinguish less

between college life and “real” life.

The activities and humors of living

remain the same in quality.

Problems seem of equal magnitude.

Goods and wrongs are just as real.

Academic pressures are serious.

But, although the planes of life must be continuous, the "College Years" probably foster a greater degree of experiment and questioning than will other periods of experience.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Our Student Council talks big and carries a big stick. And, Student Council's talk accomplished enough to make the last few councils seem just a little paltry. There were Student Court reforms, a new class attendance policy, changes in Frosh regulations, and, most important, a new annual affair, the Festival of the Arts.

This was also the year of the Great Demonstration March to keep good teachers employed, but it was well handled in spite of its genre. This was a highly successful year for Student Council under the leadership of Fiorello Sweder.

STUDENT COURT

This year's Student Court has attempted to dispel still more of its rather clandestine image by initiating new reforms and procedures patterned after a conventional court of justice. Rumor has it that there is some dissatisfaction in the ranks, particularly among those Court members who do have an interest in jurisprudence. Likewise the investigators are sadly unversed in court etiquette. Though not as successful as expected, much good was accomplished. Confusion has been eased by categorizing cases as accusatory, non-accusatory and appeal; defendants will now avoid double-jeopardy with separate hearing and trial courts; the punishment grab-bag has been enlarged to consider retribution in forms other than probation, suspension or expulsion, contributing certain precedents a young court needs. Under consideration has been that ubiquitous social code and its ex post facto definition, a trap for students inclined to mere sophomoric errors in judgment. (Dedicated rule-breakers are rare.)

The reforms, however, still need reforming as long as evidence lurks somewhere outside the closed door of the Conference Room, where the justices, bound by the legal formalities, cannot draw it out with questions. Anxious to protect innocence, the Court has often had to sacrifice truth and encourage ignorance.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

Although often ineffective because its jurisdiction overlaps that of other groups, IFC has had some effect on the six campus social fraternities this year. The major achievement of the council was the founding of a coordinating committee which, it is hoped, will operate to enforce the administration-imposed campus drinking policies. IFC also enforced their policy on dirty rushing (for a change), perhaps setting a precedent for the future.

Consisting of the presidents of each house, IFC has the potential to significantly improve fraternity relationships.

Seated: C. Woginrich, R. Toney, R. DeVett, President; S. Ayers, J. Janisak. Standing: D. Jones, J. Good, R. MacFarland, J. Davies, D. Zimmerman.

MEN'S DORMITORY COUNCIL

The duties of the Dorm Council include enforcing "quiet hours" and quelling excessive noise from hi-fi's and radios. Other aspects of their job are seeing to it that wrestling and other forms of physical activity take place in the gym or at the park and relegating the consumption of alcoholic beverages to Kern's Korner or Green's.

Council members dole out suitable punishment to offenders at their weekly trials, but during the past year, the group has also become a counseling body as well as a preventive-punitive one. However, the easiest way to obtain an off-campus room is still the acquisition of five demerits.

Seated: L. Alderfer, J. Arthur, B. Mulligan, President; J. Kohler, Vice President; E. Dotzel, H. Wiedhoft. Standing: C. Hellerich, M. Freund, R. Gill, M. Peters, M. Schlenker.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL

Women's Council planned their usual activities with their usual efficiency.

The Council's momentous achievement this year was the successful elimination of curfews for senior women. Thanks to the diplomacy and persistence of this group, it was possible for senior women to be issued keys to the dormitory, thus doing away with hurried good-bys and late-night hunger. That this experiment worked and has been approved for next year's seniors is due at least in part to Council president Beth Mulligan's memorable exhortation not to violate the "privilege"—a speech delivered early first semester.

Women's Council served well.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION COMMITTEE

This year the freshman orientation program stirred up vociferous dissatisfaction. Under the leadership of Rick Levinson, Committee chairman, and Ken Sweder, Council president, the Orientation Committee reluctantly introduced to Muhlenberg a year of "cultivation of the individual." Despite the irrational arguments, hastiness, the mass resignation of the disciplinary committee, and the minor dress alterations, the controversy brought about a few improvements.

After five years, the Orientation Committee finally got rid of the last traces of hazing that had flourished before coeds came. Instead, the Committee attempted to encourage among the freshmen an attitude of individual and mature thinking. Next year's freshmen will not have to perform the ridiculous antics of the past. Disciplinary measures will be more purposeful. Most importantly, the freshmen will be greeted as individuals with maturing minds desirous of serious learning.

UNION BOARD

Dance, Recreation, Movie, Hospitality, Special Events, Art, Publicity—the seven committees of the Union Board of Directors try to make the Seegers Union function smoothly. Because of them, the Union is not so sterile as it might have been without a student voice. In fact, when someone finally realizes that body oils really won't stain the furniture in the upper level, the Union will be a completely comfortable place.

These people compose the Publications Board. They are the editors and business managers of the three campus publications and the station and business managers of WMUH. Their function is to approve each other's budgets, which really is no function at all because Student Council usually has already passed on the budgets by the time the Board gets around to meeting. This past year, WMUH tried to stir up trouble by suggesting that the Arcade was receiving too large a percentage of the Student Body Fund, and, not too surprisingly, that WMUH was getting too little. There was a suggestion to increase each student's activities fee payment by one dollar in order to absorb the potential debt the Weekly was facing because of rising printing costs. A moderate proposal, certainly. However, one of the powers that were said that if there were such an increase, it would have to be in the amount of five dollars. Fortunately, according to the Student Council Constitution, the Board must meet only four times a year. Maybe twice would be enough.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Like its feminine counterpart, the men's leadership fraternity led nowhere in particular. The group again organized the Christmas tree sale for the benefit of the Foreign Student Fund. The group again organized the ODK Carnival for the benefit of the Foreign Student Fund. The group again organized another "student opinion poll." Whether anyone benefitted from this undertaking remains to be seen. Its greatest service was in emphasizing what we already knew: the strength of the history and various science departments, the desire among students for additional laboratory and library facilities as well as for small classes—to mention but three. Since student opinion has a way of making itself known anyway, perhaps ODK should organize a "faculty opinion poll." For a change.

LAMBDA EPSILON DELTA

As usual, the intentions of LED were good, but this year intent infrequently led to action. During second semester, not disinterest, but women's basketball (and a too-full calendar) were to blame. However, the women's honor society did sponsor a trip to the D'Oyley Carte production of The Mikado. Once again the women set themselves to tallying another tedious ODK poll and, assisted by the sophomore class, successfully auctioned off faculty gifts at the ODK carnival.

Hopefully, the new group of honorable women will regain some of that feminist spirit which characterized LED members two years ago.

Seated: C. Smullen, C. Schlenker, President; M. MacDonald, A. Toffer, Secretary; P. Herbst. Standing: L. Meinzer, N. Parker, C. Riegel, H. Wiedhoft.

Academics

After teaching at several universities, in 1948 Dr. Stevens came to Muhlenberg where he became chairman of the Department of Classical Languages. Students who never knew Dr. Stevens in the classroom had an opportunity to glimpse the delicate workings of his mind on the occasion of the celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of Shakespeare's birth, when the professor read a series of his own sonnets in praise of the Elizabethan poet. With the death of Dr. Edward Stevens, Muhlenberg College has lost a Latin and Greek scholar, a poet, and a challenging man.

The charter of Delta Phi Nu states the objective "to provide a social service women's sorority whose services will benefit Muhlenberg College and the community." A slight revision of the charter re-established the pledge system which the sorority had at its beginning. Under this system a girl pledges for a semester before she is initiated into the sorority. This revision is partly intended to discourage those girls who in the past joined DPN simply to belong to another organization.

This year Delta Phi Nu's community projects included selling UNICEF greeting cards and giving Christmas and Easter parties for the children of the Good Shepherd Home. College activities included hostessing, ushering, and acting as campus guides. Considering the size of the organization, perhaps the members could add even more activities.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Left without a leader this fall, the Xi Alpha chapter of Alpha Phi Omega labored harder than ever to maintain their former reputation. The chapter members attempted to sell more campus pacs, helped out at the home for retarded children, sponsored the annual "Ugly Man Contest" at the ODK carnival.

Affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America, APO also painted, solicited, and ushered at various campus activities in an effort to promote the organization and to continue serving the college and the community.

CARDINAL KEY SOCIETY

Among the advertising gimmicks the college uses to enroll freshmen, there is a group of navy blue-blazer men known as the Cardinal Key Society whose function it is to look dashing and collegiate. Of course, there are other functions they fulfill, such as: ushering, guiding and directing newcomers, and generally acquainting people with the ins and outs of Muhlenberg College.

All in all, the Society disciplines itself well to the purpose it serves and makes an excellent first impression on Muhlenberg candidates.

WEEKLY

For the first time, the editor of the Weekly was a woman. The paper survived. In fact, although editorial comment was not so pungent as it has been, the paper in several respects surpassed its pithier predecessors. Since the staff was not a campus in-group, the Weekly was not swathed in unanimity; dissenting letters to the editor appeared with pleasing frequency. Barry Goldwater was defended admirably, if futilely. Some brave souls even ventured to voice support for our favorite bête noire, the Administration. This year, by-lines were used discriminately and indicated that the Weekly had finally located a couple of people who combined a critical mind and a facility with language.

During the spring semester, the Weekly pushed strongly for student support of several important issues. The paper fomented interest in the seemingly arbitrary dismissal of Dr. Janet Stamm. Editorial comment disputed Dr. Jensen's statements about the validity of large classes. Fraternities were taken for their annual pro-con ride. The course evaluation and the first annual Festival of the Arts were firmly backed by a Weekly femininely but forcefully led.

Although WMUH was dissatisfied with its share of the activities fee, there was no recurrence of last year's budget padding. Muhlenberg's radio station is now on the air twenty-four hours a day, with improved music programs, expanded sports coverage, and, through the Ivy Radio Network, good coverage of the elections. A request for an FM license has been on file with the FCC for a year and a half, but despite letters of recommendation from the mayors of Allentown and Bethlehem, WMUH is still confined to campus, where it has gained a large audience.

WMUH

Lost somewhere between the king's four and queen's knight two is the Muhlenberg Chess Club. Like Sceptre, the club plays off the blacks against whites, often ending its contests in a stalemate, proving once again that no one wins at war, not even medieval war. Those who are acquainted with the game are pondering the possibility of bringing the game up-to-date. It may be possible to substitute fallout shelters for rooks and nuclear bombs for the king and queen, but one aspect of the game is destined to remain the same. The pawns will remain in the front row where they will take most of the punishment while doing most of the dirty work.

MET's status on campus is at best shaky, despite a lavish presentation first semester of Robinson Jeffers' version of Medea. Perhaps some sort of malevolent cycle is working against MET, for none of the productions this year was outstanding. Second semester, Philip C. Lewis' The American Dame was extremely funny and well-acted. Although this "playout" required little of the delicacy that sustained characterization needs, under Peter Brown's guidance it was, for the most part, a successful venture into comedy for the Experimental Theater.

Perhaps Melpomene and Thalia will turn their faces toward Muhlenberg, causing MET to return to a period of thoughtful, vigorous productions. And perhaps they won't.

MASK AND DAGGER

Mask and Dagger's production of The World of Sholom Aleichem considerably raised that group's standing on campus. Of course, it could well be said that after the fall staging of Hedda Gabler, M&D had to improve, for not since Reunion in Vienna four years ago, had such a debacle splintered the boards. However, because of Rick Berlin's well-selected cast and knowledgeable directing, Sholom Aleichem restored prestige to Mask and Dagger.

Modern in spirit, Hillel provides fellowship for Jewish students who have found their way to Muhlenberg. The society's meetings and activities permit members to explore the Jewish heritage and tradition in a contemporary context. In addition to having informal lunches and discussion groups, Hillel members attend lecture series at the Jewish Community Center and at the Lehigh Valley Institute at Lafayette College.

HILLEL

Modern in spirit, the Newman Club provides fellowship for Catholic students who have found their way to Muhlenberg. Although "Medical Aspects of the Crucifixion" may have startled some members, that program did hold interest. An interview with Bishop McShea, who was a representative to the Ecumenical Council, well indicates the Club's concern with issues currently facing Christianity. The group has successfully avoided becoming an in-grown organization.

Modern in spirit, MCA provides fellowship for Christian students who have found their way to Muhlenberg. To an increasing extent, religion and thought are coming together as the group considers the relevance of Christianity to contemporary living. No longer, however, is Christianity treated as a monolith; rather, discussion focuses on that religion's involvement with architecture, music, science.

For many, the most stirring MCA meetings were those in which Dr. David Reed and Dr. Janet Stamm spoke as though the occasion were their final lecture. Such rigorous stuff is what MCA should constantly provide.

Since 1964 was a presidential election year, the Young Republicans and Democrats had things to do. The former briefly played host to Barry Goldwater's daughters; the latter organized "Johnson Girls" for Mrs. Johnson's visit to Allentown. Both factions distributed campaign propaganda, and, not too surprisingly, debated each other. After all the sound and fury, it was "LBJ for USA." And the Y.R.'s and Y.D.'s could withdraw for another four years.

CHEERLEADERS

The varsity Cheerleaders, aided by the rather oddly named Muleskinners—the new drill team, attempted to liven silent crowds of spectators at various athletic events. They worked out new routines, added shakers, and, most importantly, shortened skirts. (A coach reportedly remarked that this was the first year he had heard anyone whistle at the cheerleaders.) These revisions, plus sturdy vocal cords, had some success in generating audible team support.

Next season, the Cheerleaders and Muleskinners will again try to gain the vocal participation of the student body, (perhaps with skirts shortened further still).

The concert tour is the biggest event in the choir's schedule, and this year the trip carried the group through western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, New York, and Canada. Unfortunately, poor weather reduced attendance at the concerts, but those who did brave the elements expressed approval and appreciation for the performances.

Mr. Lenel's inclusion of a solo by Lois Lange accompanied by flutist Pat Fatscher, a piece by Buxtehude—Cantate Domino Canticum Novum—with harpsicord continuo, and four selections accompanied by a brass ensemble added a richly diversified sound to the concert program.

The usual post-tour lag was removed by numerous activities second semester. In addition to concerts nearby, the choir participated with the Bethlehem Progressive Ensemble in "A New Song," a jazz liturgy. The group also gave two performances at the New York World's Fair. Choir members were in the Opera Workshop chorus, singing in Lenel's The Boss, which premiered at Muhlenberg in May.

Under Mr. Lenel's imaginative guidance, the choir learned, sang, and sounded well.

CHAPEL CHOIR

The Chapel Choir was formed a little over a year ago to assure the presence of choral music at Sunday morning worship services. ## BOILER MAKERS

Late first semester, when the Glee Club presided over an assembly period, students realized what many outsiders have known for two years: the group has a good sound. Under the leadership of Steve Hatzai, the men sang a program ranging from a Muhlenberg perennial like "Cardinal and the Gray," to "Amen" from Lilies of the Field, to a rock 'n' roll version of "Rudolph, the Red-nosed Reindeer." At a time when most Muhlenberg students were packing to leave for Christmas vacation, the enthusiastic reception given this concert indicates that the Glee Club (and the Boiler Makers' quartet) should sing on campus more often.

Alpha Tau Omega has the distinction of being the oldest fraternity on the Muhlenberg campus and the owner of Gulliver, the largest dog on campus. The brothers also distinguished themselves this year by copping the IFC All-Sports trophy and going undefeated in intramural football, soccer and B league basketball.

The year was also filled with other fun and memories for A.T.O. Tom Horne proved an ample and successful Santa Claus for the Orphan's party. Bob Fulton was a good President, and Nancy Kelner became the new Sweetheart of the house. The social calendar was highlighted by the somewhat unforgettable Spring weekend at Hefner's barn.

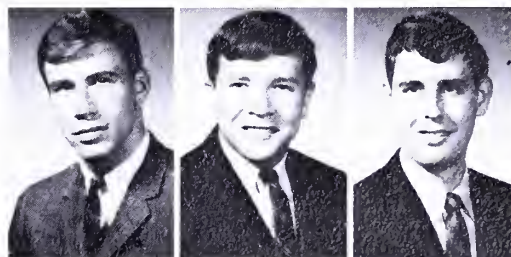

Under the leadership of Dave Pearson, the brothers are looking forward to yet another year of fun and success.

Although Lambda Chi has the smallest brotherhood of the fraternities at Muhlenberg, it continues to remain quite active in campus affairs. The house began the year successfully by placing first in the IFC Homecoming decorations. The brothers, maintaining their traditional reputation in sports, also captured the IFC basketball trophy and were runners-up in bowling and football. Continuing in their progressive vein, Lambda Chi moved up to fourth place in the academic rating of the six fraternities.

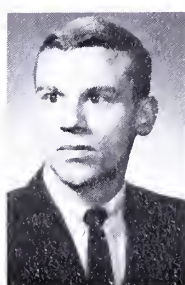

Lambda Chi Alpha remains in its small house to the east of campus in spite of the fraternity move to the south campus. Such proximity has given the brothers ready access to a variety of campus activities in which many Lambda Chi's have become leaders.

PHI EPSILON PI

In addition to receiving the Scholarship Trophy for the eleventh consecutive year, the Alpha Nu chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi added yet another award to its academic laurels. This year, the National Interfraternity Council voted Phi Ep one of the top ten academic chapters among 3,000 fraternity chapters.

Not only has Phi Ep distinguished itself in the classroom, but in many campus activities as well. Among the brotherhood can be counted important campus leaders, representatives of almost every activity, and members of various varsity teams.

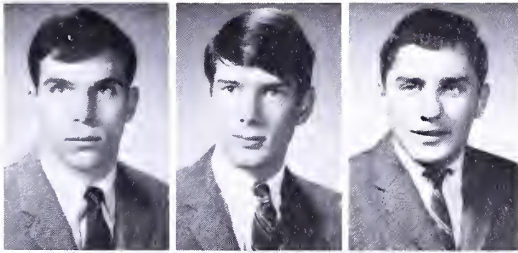

With all this and a lively social schedule to boot, Phi Ep looks forward to another successful and rewarding year.

PHI KAPPA TAU

Phi Kappa Tau is the successor to many traditions. Long active on campus, the brothers' activities ran the gamut from administrative organizations to music and photography to varsity and intra-mural sports. Within the brotherhood and among the other fraternities, Phi Tau generally maintained tradition. The party for orphans was again a success. For the second consecutive year, the brothers sang their way to the IFC Spring Sing trophy. Spring Weekend saw the crowning of Karen Nelson as the new Sweetheart and was the culmination of an active social year.

Phi Tau instituted new practices as well. The record hops surprisingly proved a lot of fun, even for those brothers without dates. A senior "award" dinner was begun, and the brothers began to concentrate on their alumni program.

With these accomplishments and a good pledge class as well, Phi Tau looks forward to another successful and rewarding year.

Where once only weeds, rabbits, and an occasional fly ball were found, there now stands a new Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. There the forty-five brothers and twenty pledges find their whim for social life and regular feeding well satisfied. The new house boasts such accommodations as a sound-proof dormitory section, a spacious living and partying room, a well equipped kitchen, and an imaginative cook who dreams of one day preparing candied iguana tail.

Asinine things-to-do are more fun if there is a whole group of people doing them, so Sig Ep says. This year they staged a race between the AB and the BS brothers to the Verrazano Narrows Bridge in New York and drove to Washington, D.C. to "get a cup of coffee at the airport." The brotherhood even involved another group, the Bernheim girls, in the activity of a squirt football game, using shaving cream for the defense.

The spirit of fun and scholarship is well-sustained by the brothers of Sig Ep.

The youngest fraternity of Muhlenberg campus has finally outgrown its shell, the "white elephant," and moved to a new abode just above and overlooking the duck-filled Muhlenberg cistern. The house has facilities for thirty men and a house mother and will hereafter serve to bring together the somewhat scattered brotherhood. Tau Kappa Epsilon will also find it somewhat easier and more convenient to give parties, for as any TKE brother knows, the basement stairs were difficult to navigate after a good time in the cellar of the white elephant.

The activities of the past TKE year have kept TKE in a high place among the fraternities' academic rating, have kept them well above the average in intramural basketball, bowling, and softball, and have most importantly gained some rushees for next year's crop of TKE's.

The women's field hockey team bounced back into normal routine this season and turned in a perfect 5-0 slate. Opening the season with a 5-4 victory over Moravian, the girls drove on to an easy 7-1 win over Bloomsburg and trounced Moravian a second time, 3-1. Riding a wave of unmatched skill, the coeds kept themselves in practice by crushing Wilkes and climaxed the perfect season by avenging last year's defeat at the hands of Millersville with a reciprocal 2-1 score. The victory over Millersville left Berg with only one defeat in six consecutive seasons.

The team was led in scoring by Lynn Vogt, who scored ten goals, and Sue Miller, who scored eight. Linda Mills, Carolyn Kellogg, and Kathy Harmon scored one each, bringing the season total to 21. As usual, the team displayed and was widely complimented for the same outstanding skill, discipline, and sportsmanship which have brought credit to Muhlenberg in past years.

FOOTBALL

The Muhlenberg football team's first season in the Southern College division was hampered by an unusual number of line and backfield injuries. The resultant loss of Woginrich, Rothrock, Brown, and Gysberts and also key linemen MacFarland, Todd, and Binder at crucial points throughout the season combined to hold the Mules to a 5-4 record. Nevertheless, the season was highlighted by a three-game winning streak which included a thrilling Haney to Binder to McCloskey hook and lateral trick-play, bringing victory over the Pennsylvania Military College in the final moments of the game. Rock-rock provided another spectacular play by gaining 140 yards during a third quarter, 22-point offensive drive which toppled Lebanon Valley, 30-22. Tony Capobianco received this year's Charlie Hatchet award for outstanding defensive play.

Although more may have been expected of Whispell's squad because of the conference change, the team's disappointing record may be attributed to the great number of injuries. A little less misfortune should provide the Mules with a better record in 1965.

Coach Lee Hill's soccer team startled everyone by booting its way to a winning season for the first time in seventeen years! The amazing performance, however, came as no surprise to the team, whose intensified and revised training transformed last year's inexperienced squad into fast and formidable competition. The team's first victory, after 43 consecutive losses, came against Lafayette as John Gruner, receiving from Tom Preston and Dave Seder, smashed through the Leopard's goalie. The 1-0 score was held for the remaining three quarters, marking the end of an infamously long losing streak. The Booters then went on to win six more games, led by most valuable player of the year, Dave Sibrinsz, who set a Berg record of 11 goals and 6 assists, followed by John Gruner with 4 goals and 2 assists and John Good with 3 goals. The team set a new season record for goals with 23.

At the end of the season, the team expressed its gratitude to Coach Hill for his outstanding work by presenting him with the Team Award, a ball autographed by each of the team members.

A poor initial turnout of candidates and rugged competition left Coach Theisen's Harriers with an 0-9 record for the 1964 season. The only moment of inspiration for the team came as Ethiopian Al Indeshaw placed first against Moravian with an elapsed time of 27 minutes and 33 seconds on the Moravian home course. In spite of Al's fine performance, the Harriers lost the meet with a tight 30-25 score. Al's fastest time on Berg's home course, a very fast 23 minutes and 10 seconds, was turned in as he placed third against Franklin and Marshall in the last meet of the season.

Research by Coach Theisen has led to a greater emphasis on hills and irregular terrain in practice sessions, and when this intensified training begins to take effect, the Harriers should find themselves more able to cope with the division's difficult courses.

MEN'S VARSITY BASKETBALL

At the end of a stormy and somewhat disappointing season, the Mules quietly brought the record to an even 9-9, spurred on by the shouts of an ever-diminishing cheering section. The last game against Ursinus marked the end of brilliant college careers for Spengler, Jones, and Butz, who constitute the trio which consistently led the team in scoring this year. The enormous task of filling the gap they leave will fall on the shoulders of Tom Barlow and John Heck, who have amply proven themselves capable of team leadership.

The eye of the storm surrounding this year's team centered over the resignation of John Linnet. The reaction of the student body was naturally one of shock, and a wave of indignation spread across the campus. Somewhere beneath it all were the facts, which, unfortunately, no one bothered to uncover. The result of the case was a rage of assorted distasteful remarks directed toward Coach Moyer, but the team played on. So their scores are in and everyone says they did poorly. Who can blame them?

K. Moyer, Head Coach; L. Hill, Assistant Coach; J. Heck, C. Buchholz, G. Spengler, W. Jones, R. Wessner, T. Gehris, K. Butz, A. Wise, T. Barlow, J. Linnet, M. Mills, A. Somers, S. Fluck, R. Bair.

Sparked on by such outstanding players as Kirsten Kuhnt, Mary Ann Peters, and Carol Bailey, the Mulettes turned in an excellent 7-2 slate for the 64-65 season. Important highlights for the girls were the defeats of Millersville and Elizabethtown, teams which have consistently meant trouble in the past.

The athletic excellence exhibited by coach Hospodar's team is indicative of the trend toward perfection revealed by the coeds in all areas of sport this year.

Dr. Erskine's fencing team turned in a winless record this season, marking the end of what was, nonetheless, an educational year for the team. The chronic weakness throughout the season was found to be in the sabre division, a situation which was corrected at the M.A.C. championships when Ed Fischl and Dick Kresloff scored seven and six points respectively for the sabre team. Team captain Steve Hatzai led the team in the epee division, while Young, Blob, and Rich constantly improved in the foil division.

The experience gained this year and a little enthusiastic support could mean an outstanding season for Dr. Erskine's swordsmen next year.

Continuing the downhill slide that began last year when Coach Kuntzleman's matmen slipped below the .500 mark, the grapplers wound up an uneventful season by posting a 2-8-2. As last year, Rich Biolsi and John Piper provided all the inspiration. Biolsi went undefeated throughout the season and took second place in the M.A.C. tournament.

The one bright spot in an otherwise drab season was the last match of the year against Ursinus in which Berg took four straight matches and tied the meet, 14-14. With the loss of Captain Rich Biolsi, Coach Kuntzleman could be looking forward to next season with questionable expectations.

The Muhlenberg golfers began the season successfully by defeating Elizabethtown. However, only a single additional victory, over Lafayette, rewarded the efforts of the team. Perhaps the men should reduce their goal and play in miniature.

Plagued by injuries, sickness, and just plain bad luck, Coach Flamish's cindermen turned in a 1-8 slate for the 1965 season. To be commended for consistently fine performances despite it all are weightmen Ken Butz and Ron Todd, who were high scorers at every meet. High point of the competition for the runners came as Charlie Woginrich copped third place in the Penn Relays, adding a touch of purpose to an otherwise drab season.

Coach Frederico's baseball team recorded a better slate for the 1965 season than any in the last nine years: 8-8-1, which moves the team closer to that long-sought winning season.

Outstanding games were a double-header grabbed from Lebanon Valley and a tight game at Wilkes, which the Cardinal and Gray took 5-4.

Granted a dependable starting lineup, hope prevails for a winning season next year.

MEN'S TENNIS

Slipping a bit from the fine performance rendered last year, the Muhlenberg netmen turned in a mediocre 6-6 tally for the 1965 season. However, outstanding play was consistently exhibited by Garrison, Simon and Dickinson. Berg's opponents will be facing a lineup of veterans next year.

ARBITRARY FACULTY DISMISSALS

We, as leaders representing the student body, after careful consideration, feel that we can no longer remain silent on an issue so basic to an education dedicated to the liberal arts.

The arbitrary and unspecific administrative policies concerning faculty dismissals are indicative of a more significant and serious problem—the inhibiting of a creative academic atmosphere.

The present situation serves as an example of this general deficiency. An excellent teacher, so acknowledged by her students, fellow professors, department head, Dean of the Faculty, and, indeed, by the President of the College himself, has been dismissed. Why?

The answers have been nebulous, arbitrary, and meaningless. The administration stated that Dr. Stamm's "total contribution" to the College has not been sufficient, that she has "failed to integrate with the College Community," and that she is not in sympathy with the aims of the College.

The prime factor in the consideration of a faculty member's value should be the actual classroom effectiveness. Personality criticism and conflicts are secondary, not primary considerations. Muhlenberg has a great need for teachers who actively and creatively engage the student in a genuine educational experience as Dr. Stamm has done. The dismissal of valuable teachers on the basis of secondary considerations is a manifestation of a general attitude which has led to a shallow academic climate.

When presented with the Faculty Personnel Committee's report which unanimously declared that the bases for Dr. Stamm's dismissal were unjustified and that she be reinstated with tenure and a due promotion, the administration restated their original arbitrary and nebulous position. However, if the Faculty Committee approached the case with insufficient evidence, it is the fault of the administration for withholding facts pertinent to the case.

We consider the case of Dr. Stamm an example of the arbitrary and isolated policy which the administration follows. Unfortunately, we cannot bring Dr. Stamm back; it is too late; and the deed is done. But we, together as students, can and must engage in a demonstration of our dissatisfaction in order to impress upon the administration that we are willing to actively express our concern for what we believe to be right and just at Muhlenberg.

The case of Dr. Stamm's dismissal is but a by-product and example of a greater and undefinable deficiency at Muhlenberg. In the past, students have complained among themselves about this deficiency or they have written letters to the Weekly Editor. The President of the student body and the Editor of the Weekly have officially expressed their concern and dissatisfaction to the administration. These objections have obviously had little effect on the concern with which the administration views faculty and student opinion. Tonight we have a chance to express our dissatisfaction in an organized and meaningful way which, we hope, will induce the administration to care as much for the students' liberal education as the students care about the future of Muhlenberg.

MUHLENBERG COLLEGE STUDENT LINEN AGENT

As the Decade of Dedication proceeds, Muhlenberg College continues to grow. Physically, the school has acquired another women's dorm, new dormitories for men, and a couple new fraternity houses. The intellectual growth of the college is not so readily measured, and one might well ask, with reference to the above slogan, "Dedication to what?" On various occasions during the past year, the "liberal arts tradition," "academic excellence," and "creative teaching" all were stoutly defended and lauded, no doubt sincerely, by all factions. Somewhere, mixed in with controversies, examinations, and demonstrations is the object or goal of Muhlenberg's dedication. Maybe sometime, simultaneously, the student body, faculty, and administration will agree on a definition of that goal and on a method to extricate it from the jumble of events. However, as long as people continue to try to figure out what they're dedicated to and what they hope to achieve, Muhlenberg will persist as a college.

Since the Ciarla is the "yearbook," its function and purpose are self-evident. Without trying to make the Ciarla a weapon, we have represented things as we saw them, both pictorially and editorially. In this venture we were assisted by the strange assortment of people who formed the yearbook staff and who, with not too much grumbling, acceded to our commands and pleadings. Working with them was a unique and exciting experience. We thank Mr. Alfred Colarusso and Dr. Truman Koehler respectively for advice on design and for willingly signing warrants. We are grateful to the Call-Chronicle Newspapers of Allentown for the use of several photographs of the Protest, the Festival of the Arts, and Graduation. Also deserving our thanks is the Muhlenberg Publicity Office, the members of which kindly supplied us with many pictures. And finally, without the patience, ingenuity, and good will of Mr. James McWilliams of Foote & Davies, we would have given up in despair and disgust many times. To everyone who slaved over the 1965 Ciarla, our complete and hearty thanks.
